The Norwegian Cruise Line (NCL) Boarding Pass provides information required at embarkation. The information you enter when you complete your NCL Online Check-In, or Pre-Registration as it is also known, is required by the Department of Homeland Security prior to departure. This specific guest information is required by law, and used for internal security screening. Failure to provide this information in advance may result in your boarding being denied. Once you've booked your NCL cruise, "Register" for an account or "Log In to My NCL" to explore and plan all of the wonderful things you can do every night of your vacation. Your NCL Reservation # is needed in order to register and login at NCL.com to complete your online check-in, and print out your NCL eDocs, which includes your Boarding pass. Online check-in must be completed at least 24 hours prior to the sail date, but we recommend you do this in advance in case there are any issues. Sundancer can send you step-by-step instructions upon request. You will be able to print your eDocs and luggage tags 30 days prior to sailing and up to 24 hours prior to sailing.

What is the Latitudes® program?

NCL's Latitudes Program awards repeat guests with benefits and privileges. Call Latitudes Customer Service at 1.800.343.0098.

Sundancer Tip: If you are a Latitudes Rewards member, a commemorative lapel pin is available on your sailing. The pins are available by request only. Also, take advantage of special discounts offered on board.

What are the embarkation procedures?

Check-in usually starts around 12:00 pm if the ship is cleared, and continues until 3:00 pm. Final boarding is 120 minutes prior. We sail at 5:00 pm. So you MUST be on board by 3:00 pm.

Final Boarding Time: In order to facilitate the embarkation process and the processing of your eDocs, and to comply with new government regulations governing departure manifest, all guests are required to complete Online Check-In at least one day prior to sailing and must complete check-in at the cruise terminal and be onboard the ship no later than two hours prior to the departure time noted on their cruise documents or they will not be permitted to sail. There is no clemency for passengers stuck in traffic, sidetracked by a flight delay or impacted by the weather. If you're not punctual, the ship sails without you. It's best to arrive a day before your cruise departs, so you don't have to worry about close calls or missing the boat.

Boarding Time in Ports of Call:

In all ports of call, it is also the guest's responsibility to be back onboard the ship no later than one (1) hour prior to the ship's scheduled departure time unless stated otherwise by the ship.

Please be aware that shipboard time may differ from the port of call and it is the guest's responsibility to follow the shipboard time. In the event a guest misses the ship, it will be the guest's responsibility to pay all expenses incurred to rejoin the ship. This time changes are particularly important if you are not doing a ship excursion and on your own.

Sundancer Tip: Your cellphone may not always keep up with time changes. Snap a picture of the "all aboard time" with your phone or camera in case you forget what time you're supposed to be back on the ship.

Also, review "Airport and Cruise Terminal Information" posted on Sundancer's website.

What To Do When You Get On Board

When you first come aboard, be sure to check out your stateroom if it is ready. There you'll find the NCL Freestyle Daily Planner with schedules for all the onboard activities. Every night a 'freestyle daily' will be placed your bed letting you know what is happening the following day. The freestyle daily is basically a schedule of where and when events are taking place around the ship.

If the spa or fitness classes are your thing, try to make your appointments on the first day, as the most popular treatments and times fill up fast. So do the specialty dining venues, as well as pre-booked reservations for shows.

Hungry? Head up to the Garden Café buffet. They'll be offering snacks, sandwiches, salads and more throughout embarkation.

After eating, it would be wise to explore the vessel. Note, however, that the shops won't open until the ship is in international waters. TV screens are available everywhere on the ship to access a map of the ship and to find your location.

Sundancer Tip: Follow the fishes on the carpet to find your way on cabin deck hallways. The fish are always moving forward (the ship's forward.) Easy trick to figure out if you are heading forward or aft once you exit the elevators. Use the cabin alleys to get from one end to the other and then go up or down. Also, there are red dots on the carpet for the port side and green dots on the carpet for starboard side.

Sail-away festivities: Make sure to be on the pool deck for this – you wouldn't want to miss out on the free-flowing cocktails, happy crowds, live music, and dancing under the carpet of stars.

Reservations for Shows

NCL advised you can start pre-booking some of the shows 90 days prior to sailing, which is May 2nd. Some will need to be reserved on the ship.

For NCL Escape, you can pre-book the two main theater shows- After Midnight and For the Record: The Brat Pack- 90 days prior to departure (as well as dining and spa). There are also different comedians, and their shows can only be reserved once you are onboard. The Headliners Comedy Club is a small venue, and shows sell out quickly, so we suggest booking the shows on embarkation day. If you don't get reservations, you will have to wait in the standby line the day of the show. Note that the late shows are adult only. It is best to book the shows before you cruise on the NCL website for those that are available on line. If not try to book them on your first day onboard. You can do this through your stateroom TV, the interactive screens on the ship, or through the phone app. (It doesn't matter if you don't go, they just give away your space to somebody else). When you get to the theatre your room keycard is scanned to check that you have booked, you can go into the theatre around 30 minutes prior to show time (we recommend you get there at least 15 minutes prior). If you haven't booked, you are made to wait outside until ten minutes before the show when they give away the remaining seats (usually ten minutes before). It is open seating.

Sundancer Tip: Note that this theatre only holds 1,000 passengers. There are 4,300 passengers on this ship.

Evacuation Drill

The evacuation drill is mandatory for all guests so don't miss it otherwise you may get in trouble afterward or when a real emergency occurs you'll have no clue what to do. By now you would have gone to your stateroom to check it out for the first time but don't get too comfortable because once the emergency alarms sound you'll have to head on up to the muster stations. And don't try hiding in your stateroom because your room steward will check it. You are not required to wear a life jacket while participating in the drill. We believe the mandatory drill will be held in various public rooms and will be around 3:30 p.m., and the ship sails at 4:00 p.m. The drill will also be televised afterwards on your stateroom TV.

Luggage.

Each person is allowed up to two pieces of personal luggage on board, with each piece weighing a maximum of 50 pounds, plus carry-on bags and items. However, if passengers are traveling by air, they need to check with the airline for specific restrictions.

All items of luggage will be x-rayed before being brought on board. You should keep any documents, money, valuables, jewelry, personal belongings, medicines, binoculars, cameras or delicate items in your hand luggage. For security reasons, Guests are required to unlock their suitcases at the pier prior to giving them to the porters. Note that claims for luggage loss or damage must be made in writing to the Director of Administration or Pier Manager PRIOR to leaving the disembarkation pier.

The luggage labels will be used, when boarding, to identify and delivering the luggage to your cabin. The labels you'll receive on board, at the end of your cruise, will make it easier for you to leave the ship by showing the order of priority.

Extra ship luggage tags can be obtained from the Porters at the pier.

Also, see luggage storage option at <https://luggagehero.com/>

Can I bring food or drink on board (from home or from a port)?

Effective for sailings July 15, 2016 and beyond, guests are prohibited from bringing any beverages -- including liquor, beer and non-alcoholic drinks such as water, soda and juices -- on board either as carry-on or checked luggage, with the exception of purified or distilled water in factory-sealed containers for use in conjunction with medical devices or for the reconstitution of infant formula; and fully sealed and/or corked wine bottles for personal consumption onboard that is subject to screening and a corkage fee (for guests 21 years of age or older). Open beverages of any kind must be consumed or discarded at the security check-point, on embarkation day and at any port of call. This revised policy brings the company in line with other best practice travel security protocols and reduces the need for individual time-consuming screening and package inspection of large volumes of beverages. Guests who bring beverages to embarkation will be directed to return the items to their vehicle. If the guest does not have a vehicle onsite, the items will be disposed of.

Sundancer tip: Bring a reusable water bottle or coffee cup to fill up on the ship and carry it around with you while exploring ports. There is no "open container" rule for drinks or food on board the ship.

Wine & Champagne Policy

Guests may bring bottles of wine and champagne on board. When bottles are brought on board and served or consumed in any restaurant, public room area or in their stateroom, a corkage fee will be charged according to bottle sizes noted below.

750 ml Bottle: $15.00 USD

1,500 ml Magnum: $30.00 USD

* Prices subject to change

Wine or champagne sent directly to the ship by travel agents, friends, family, etc. or from another retail source, are subject to the same fees. Box wines are not allowed on board.

* NCL encourages the responsible use of alcohol and accordingly reserves the right to permanently or temporarily revoke the drinking privileges of any guest who violates NCL's Guest Code of Conduct or who is deemed a danger to himself, herself or others by vessel management. Continued abuse of alcohol while sailing and/or violation of NCL's alcohol policy may result in immediate disembarkation.

What is the alcohol and beverage policy?

Passengers must be 21 years of age or older to purchase or consume alcohol.

NCL permits young adults to purchase and personally consume wine and beer only while onboard and with the consent of an accompanying parent. Authorization will be given only when the accompanying parent completes the Young Adult Alcoholic Beverage Waiver form. This form can be obtained and completed at the Guest Services Desk upon embarkation of the vessel. However, passengers 18 years of age or older are permitted to consume beer and wine when sailing on round-trip European voyages without having to complete the Young Adult Alcoholic Beverage Waiver form.

What if I purchase a beverage in a port of call?

Guests will not be permitted to bring any beverages onboard the ship in ports of call and any locally purchased beverages will be disposed of prior to embarkation. No open containers of beverages, including water, will be allowed onboard during a port of call. If you purchase any alcohol at one of the ports-of-call or in the onboard shops, NCL will safely store your purchase(s) and either on the final night of the cruise or the morning of debarkation it will be available for pick up in a designated area.

If I need to bring water or milk onboard for a medical reason or infant, what's the process?

Guests who have special needs, medical requirements, or families with infants who require water for formula or milk, should contact the access desk at accessdesk@ncl.com to verify if an exception can be made for their beverage and to obtain pre-approval to provide to security at embarkation. Note: You may need to bring your own extension cord if bringing a CPAP machine.

Cabins (also referred to as Staterooms)

Every cruise line guest is assured of comfortable accommodations featuring staterooms above ocean level for a more comfortable cruise. Staterooms and suites vary by ship, but every room offers air-conditioning, carpeting, ample drawer and closet space, a television, telephone, private bath, shower, vanity and a hair dryer. And, like a fine hotel, all staterooms provide body wash and shampoo. Depending on your stateroom/suite category, your accommodations may include other amenities such as bathrobes, mini bars and more.

Beds are standard twin beds. Beds convert into queen-size. If you want, your beds put together or apart, just ask your stateroom steward and he or she will take care of that for you.

All staterooms and suites have mini-safes. Please note, however, that NCL is not responsible for valuables left in staterooms or elsewhere on board.

NCL does not provide or allow steamers or irons in the staterooms, as they constitute a fire hazard. There is no self-service laundry. Complete valet services including laundry, pressing and dry cleaning, can be arranged through your stateroom steward/stewardess and billed to your shipboard account.

The lights inside your cabin are activated by your room card. There is a slot inside the door. Once the card is inserted in the slot the lights will come on. On the outside of your cabin door there are indicator lights: When your card is in the slot it will read "At Home"; you can also select "Do Not Disturb (red)"; or "Make Up Room".

Sundancer Tip: Running out of clean laundry? See if the ship usually runs a mid-week laundry promo. This can be a great savings, especially if you packed light for the trip. You could also hand wash some clothing in your sink or shower. There is no ironing room, but depending on availability, you can sometimes request an iron and ironing board for a short time to be delivered to your cabin. You would need to be there to accept it.

Will I need an electrical converter?

The current on board is 110 volts & 220V AC. However, some high-voltage hair dryers, electric rollers and electric razors may require a converter

NCL Cruise Line has introduced an enhanced room service menu. The new menu offers an expanded selection for breakfast, in addition to a wider variety of options available 24 hours. Individual items on the menu remain available on a complimentary basis and a convenience charge of up to $7.95 USD will be added to each order placed (Morning coffee, continental breakfast and orders placed by guests sailing in The Haven will not attract a charge)*. Room service is one of up to 29 dining options offered across the fleet, and guests continue to be able to enjoy a wide array of complimentary choices onboard 24 hours a day.

Prices subject to change.

Inspect your stateroom and report any complaints immediately to the Information Desk and your stateroom steward or stewardess. Please let Sundancer know if you do not get results.

Sundancer Tip: The NCL cabins have both US and European adaptors. Maximize your charging capacity by bringing along a European plug adaptor. You may also need one for your hotel stays. NCL cabins also have USB ports. Some like to bring a regular multi-outlet adapter or power strip (but not surge-protection). Some even have USB ports built in.

Clothing, What To Pack

For the first day of your cruise, pack a small carry-on bag with your travel documents, a change of clothes, valuables, and any medications you may need. For our dance group - don't forget your dance shoes as our dance activities may start before your luggage arrives in your cabin. It is also recommended to bring gel inserts or padding for your dance shoes to provide extra cushion.

When it comes to what to wear, you can go resort casual or get decked-out and look your best - it's your call. That's the freedom of "Freestyle Cruising". NCL even has special "Dress-Up or Not Night." It's the perfect opportunity to get your portrait taken with your family or that special someone. Sundancer will also be arranging a Group Photo.

Cruise Casual: the Freedom of Freestyle Cruising: Dress cruise casual anytime during the day, in the buffet and in most specialty restaurants. For women, it includes summer and casual dresses, skirts, regular or capri pants, shorts, jeans and tops. Khakis, jeans, shorts and casual shirts are fine for men. Swimwear is acceptable at the buffet and outdoor restaurant, but a shirt or a cover-up and footwear are required. Be sure to pack a sweater — the air conditioning can be chilly.

Please Note: NCL wants you to be comfortable, but tank tops for men, slip-resistant flip flops, baseball caps, visors and jeans that are overly faded, with holes or tears and worn below the hips are not permitted in main dining rooms or specialty restaurants.

All Decked-out: Smart Casual: Dress smart casual in the more formal dining room or in the more upscale specialty restaurants. For women, it includes slacks or jeans, dresses, skirts and tops. For men, it's jeans or slacks with a collared shirt and closed-toed shoes.

Shore Excursions: Think about the shore excursions you'll be taking and pack accordingly, including comfy walking shoes. It's good to pack a pair of closed-toed shoes. You can check within description of each specific shore excursion for more information.

Temperatures in most of our ports are projected to be in the high 60's or low 70's, but evenings are typically in the 50's. It is a good idea to bring a comfortable base layer for cooler evenings at the ports. Layering is always good.

Special Events: Theme Nights and Parties: NCL Freestyle Daily Planner will inform you if the ship is having any specific dress code themes. NCL's newest event, NCL's Night Out (usually first sea day), is the perfect opportunity to get dressed up for an evening of cocktails, fine dining and great entertainment. You may also want to pack an all-white ensemble for the iconic White Hot Party. We have been told by NCL that they typically have an Oldies night, 70's or 80's night, and Country Western night, but they could not commit as to what nights they would be and whether they would have any of these themes on this particular sailing.

Other recommendations from Sundancer:

Another suggestion is to bring earplugs. I have always brought them, but never needed them, but you never know! Some like to bring a nightlight, or battery operated tea light, or small flashlight, especially for the inside cabins.

You should dress for a cruise with NCL the same way you would for any stylish land-based resort.

We highly suggest bringing along a sweater, shawl or jacket for cool evenings and cool air conditioning in the dining room and lounges. And if you'll be touring any museums, cathedrals or churches, it's always wise to dress conservatively or have a cover-up.

Inexpensive rain gear (also doubles as a great windbreaker) or a small or collapsible umbrella is also a good idea in case of a sudden shower. You could also bring an umbrella.

If you plan on swimming, you might want to bring a couple of swimsuits (and cover-ups), so you will have one that is always dry. And then there are the Jacuzzis!

If you're planning to visit the onboard fitness center, be sure to bring extra shorts, t-shirts and socks that you won't mind working out in - plus a pair of tennis or running shoes/sneakers.

Bring your cameras and/or camcorders. Binoculars are another often forgotten, yet indispensable travel item.

Be sure to leave some room in your luggage for all those souvenirs and mementos.

Some space-saving ideas include:

Bring shirts and pants/skirts that mix and match, turning three outfits into five or six.

Wear your heaviest shoes during embarkation and disembarkation so you don't have to pack them.

Pack small items inside larger ones for efficiency.

Bring an additional empty bag for those acquired extras.

For excursions on land, we recommend you wear casual clothing and comfortable shoes without heels.

There are four very important types of books you'll want to consider packing:

Travel guides - to help you explore new destinations

Poolside pleasures - nothing beats a great read in the sun

Journal - keep an account of your adventure for sharing and reminiscing

Address book - send your friends a postcard to make them jealous

Sundancer Tip: Don't get stuck with wrinkled clothing. Hang your garment on a coat hanger and spray with wrinkle releaser. Hang the item in a steamy bathroom and your garment should look like it was just ironed.

Sundancer Tip: Take advantage of the metal doors and walls in your cabin- bring magnets for hanging cruise planners or a white board to leave each other messages. These are great for hanging on your stateroom door – inside or out. Use magnet hangers for coats, hats, your lanyard, etc.

Do I have to bring a towel for swimming on board or excursions?

Towels are also available on the ship. You can use these to lie on the deck chairs, for showering and on the equipment.

Pre-Reserving NCL Shore Excursions

Exploring ports of call will be one of the highlights of your cruise, and one of the best ways to do this is on a shore excursion.

How do I book my Shore Excursions?

All tours are available to pre-request at My NCL, or you can call 866-625-1167 (US & Canada) or 0845-201-8907 (UK) up until two days prior to sailing. Once onboard, Shore Excursions can also be purchased at the ship's Shore Excursion Desk, or on the digital screens or your stateroom TV.

Also see "Ports of Call" on Sundancer's website for information on your ports (such as currency, tipping and average temperatures) and information about obtaining a Russian Visa.

Sundancer Tip: If you chose the free amenity for $50 per port Shore Excursion credit, to apply the $50 to a particular excursion, you will need to call the Excursion Desk at 1-866-625-1167. Hours: Mon-Fri 9:00 am to 9:00 pm EST; Sat/Sun 10:00 am - 6:30 pm EST

How do I book my Dining, Entertainment and Spa activities prior to sailing?

Onboard activities can be booked online at www.ncl.com/myncl.

Some ships allow you to pre-book entertainment shows. If not, we suggest you pre-book the shows on Day 1 on board the ship.

Reservations are never required or taken for the Main Dining Rooms, Buffet, Blue Lagoon, Cadillac Diner or O'Sheehans; however reservations are recommended for the specialty restaurants. Reservations may be made by phone, in person at the designated Restaurant Reservations Desk, or at any specialty restaurant host desk during dinner service. To ensure that guests receive the best service, NCL can only hold your dinner reservation for 15 minutes. After 15 minutes, the unclaimed reservation will be released. For dinner reservations made on board, the full cover price per guest will be charged to the guest's account. If you are interested in specialty dining it is suggested you make the reservation on line pre-cruise, or make reservations for the options you want on the first day of your sailing on board. You can also see wait times and menus on the screens found all over the ship. You can also see the menus on the screens in your cabin.

Specialty dining can be pre-booked online for parties of up to eight guests. If you'd like to pre-book specialty dining for larger parties, please call us at 800-327-7030 for assistance. NCL reservation agents will also be able to assist you if you would like to pre-book specialty dining for your group using more than one credit card.

Note: If you chose the Amenity for the Special Dining Package - This amenity is for the first and second guest in each stateroom. The value of the Specialty Dining Amenity package is $104 per person, $208 per cabin. Gratuities are only $18.80 per person, which comes to $4.70 per person per meal. We are told by NCL that you cannot book the Specialty Dining Amenity until 120 days prior to sailing, which we believe is April 2nd.

Sundancer Tip: Don't be afraid to order what you want – such as multiple appetizers and desserts. Once on board you can view the weekly menu and then book your dinners at specialty restaurants based on the menus you don't want to miss.

Cancellations of Shore Excursions, Dining and Spa reservations:

Cancellations made up to 24 hours prior to sailing will be refunded in full to the credit card on which the purchase was made. To cancel prepaid reservations prior to sailing, please call 866-896-3152 (for Shore Excursions) and 800-327-7030 (for Dining, Entertainment and Spa). Cancellations made after that point will be refunded as an onboard credit. To make a cancellation on board, please visit the Shore Excursion Desk (for Shore Excursions), or the Guest Services Desk.

What is the cancellation process once I'm on board?

Shore Excursions: Guests that cancel on board more than 48 hours prior to the tour will receive a refund for their purchase in the form of an onboard credit. Tours cancelled by guests less than 48 hours prior to arrival in the port where the tour is scheduled are non-refundable. Please note that certain tours, such as overland tours, customized tours and tours with theater performances or special events may be subject to different cancellation fees. To make a cancellation on board or for additional details, please visit the Shore Excursion Desk.

Dining/Entertainment: Guests that cancel on board more than 24 hours prior to the booked activity will receive a refund for their purchase in the form of an onboard credit. If a cancellation is made less than 24 hours prior to the activity, no refund will be issued. To make a cancellation on board, please visit the Guest Services Desk.

Failure to do so may result in a cancellation charge up to 50% of the treatment price being assessed to your onboard account. To make a cancellation on board, please visit the Guest Services Desk.

Will there be any cancellation fees if I cancel my onboard activity?

No. There will be no cancellation fees.

NOTE: Promotion Amenities: These can be changed up to 14 days prior to sailing.

Dining:

Sundancer Group Dining: On other cruise lines we reserve a dining time nightly for the group in the main dining room. However, NCL is "FreeStyle Cruising" so there is not just one main dining room and we do not believe we can make reservation for the entire group. Sundancer is in contact with the ship to attempt to arrange reserving group dining at 6:45 pm nightly in the Manhattan Dining Room for those that want to dine together. If you want to be part of the group dining, please let Sundancer know. NCL will need to assign tables, so would like to know if you want to be seated with any particular cruisers at your table. If this cannot be pre-arranged, our suggestion is that those that want to dine in the same area meet outside the Manhattan Room main dining area nightly at 6:45 pm. We are told there is dancing during dinner only in the Manhattan Dining Room.

NCL chefs are true culinary artists who insist on serving the very finest cuisine - and it shows. Each chef's menu is creative and the selections change every day. Pair that with impeccable service and you're in for an unforgettable gourmet experience. OTHER INFORMATION

What is the "NCL Freestyle Daily Cruise Planner"?

This is the on-board newsletter delivered to your cabin every evening. It will keep you informed about activities planned for the following day and provide you with useful numbers, ship departure times, the time zone of your destination and lots of other useful information.

Information Desk (also sometimes referred to as Purser's Desk or Passenger Service Desk).

The main objective of the Purser's division is to provide guests with a positive cruise experience. Guest satisfaction is their goal in everything they do, especially: Greeting and assisting guests with their individual needs; responding to guest questions, requests, comments, or complaints; taking responsibility for all money, transactions, lost or found articles, mail, and onboard printing; and obtaining proper clearance for the ship with Port Authorities. The Information Desk will assist you with any tours or with any general concerns. Guests can buy stamps at the Information Desk and can mail letters at the drop-off box at the Information Desk. Guests can also cash traveler's checks here.

How can I pay for purchases made on board?

For your convenience, all shipboard expenses are charged to your Onboard account. Sign up when you check in, establishing your method of payment with Visa, MasterCard, American Express, Discover, JCB Card, Diner's Club. Please be advised that NCL obtains pre-authorization for all Credit Cards, and some banks hold these funds for up to 30 days. Cash can also be used as a method of payment to settle your account with an initial deposit paid in advance.

If you prefer to pay by cash or traveler's cheques, a suggested deposit is usually $450 per person for cruises of 8 nights and more at check-in (subject to change). Then, you simply sign for your personal expenses as you go and they will be charged to your account.

Currency exchange, at prevailing rates, is available on some cruises. Travelers checks and most major credit cards are accepted in some of the ports NCL visits. Proper ID is required when cashing travelers checks. We recommend you carry a small amount of local currency when visiting foreign ports, although credit cards are commonly accepted in shops and restaurants. See Sundancer's Ports of Call document on our website for information about currency in each port.

Tip from Sundancer: If you have a credit balance on your shipboard account at the end of the cruise, you need to go to the information desk as they typically refund this in cash, and not to the credit card on file. If you do not do this, when you try to disembark you will be sent to another line to settle the account.

Using your debit or ATM card

- NCL does not recommend the use of a debit card as payment for your onboard folio.
- Please be advised that multiple holds will be placed on your debit card account based on your onboard purchases.
- After settling your onboard folio, these debit card holds may remain on your account up to 30 days after the cruise ends.
- To avoid overdraft charges from your bank, please make sure that you have enough available funds in your account during this hold period.
- NCL will not be responsible for overdraft charges resulting from holds placed on Debit Card accounts.

Traveler's Check / Cash Procedures

- A cash deposit may be placed on your onboard account in the following amounts:
- More than 7 days - $450 USD per person
- Once you have exceeded the deposited amount, your account will be closed to further charges. You can deposit as much money as often as you'd like throughout the cruise, however, refunds cannot be made until the day of disembarkation for any excess.

*Personal checks will not be accepted, nor can they be cashed on board.

What Are The Tipping Policies?

Onboard currency is the US dollar. Gratuities can be prepaid or paid on board. To simplify the tipping process for passengers, a discretionary gratuity is $14.50 for inside, oceanview and balcony cabins, $17.50 for The Haven and Suites per person per day (including children). This gratuity will be shared amongst those staff who help provide and support your cruise experience, including all wait staff, stateroom stewards, buffet stewards, and housekeeping staff across the fleet. They make their living entirely from tips.

Guest satisfaction is the highest priority at Norwegian Cruise Line (“NCL”). They have structured a guest satisfaction program designed to handle any concerns about service or on-board product quickly and efficiently. However, in the event a service issue should arise during your cruise please let the on-board guest services desk staff know right away, so that NCL can address these in a timely manner. It is the goal to reach a satisfactory solution to any issue when it happens and make sure guests can focus on enjoying their cruise. Should your concerns not be met with satisfaction you can adjust the charges.

Please note most people are not aware that a 20% gratuity is already added to each sale for any drinks that you purchase from the bars or dining room wine accounts. This is shared amongst the beverage staff and their support staff. Be careful not to double-tip. There is a place on the slip to add any additional tip if you wish to do so.

Also, tipping your Maitre d’ in the dining room is at your discretion, based upon the service you received, and is not included in the gratuities.

We recommend that you bring sufficient currency in small bills with you for optional additional tipping.

What will the temperature be like on board?

The temperature on board is pleasant; however, we recommend you wear a warmer item of clothing in all air-conditioned environments to avoid any sudden temperature changes between the outside and inside of the ship. It can be cool in the dining rooms, lounges and theatre. In your cabin, you can control the temperature individually by using the thermostat.

Can I celebrate an occasion on board?

Celebrating a birthday, wedding anniversary or honeymoon on board is a truly special and unique experience. You can book a number of exclusive services online or onboard. When you're on board, you can go directly to the Information Desk.

Ship Photographers

Photos taken by the ship photographers can be viewed in the Perspectives Photography Studio on Deck 6 midship. They are placed in your folio notebook and you can view these at any time. No purchase is required. Sundancer will be arranging a Group Photo as well.

Will I need to bring money on NCL shore excursions?

When noted in the shore excursion description, snacks, drinks and even meals are included in the price of some excursions. However, you may want to bring money with you as some excursions stop in areas where you are able to do some souvenir shopping, try the local cuisine food and various other refreshments. These items will be at your own expense. Tipping is not included.

Is it possible to go shopping and participate in an excursion while in port?

Yes. Many excursions are only a few hours in duration, leaving you with plenty of time in most ports for shopping, sightseeing or even participating in another excursion. Also, many longer excursions include a shopping stop.

What about smoking on the ship?

As the health and well-being of guests and crew is of the utmost importance, NCL will institute changes to its smoking policy for all sailings on or after November 1, 2014. The specific changes prohibit smoking on stateroom balconies and limit smoking in the casino to players.

Public areas throughout all the ships are smoke-free. If you smoke regular or electronic cigarettes, you can do so in designated areas only. If you prefer pipes or cigars, you can smoke in the Cigar Bar or designated smoking lounge. Smoking cigarettes, electronic cigarettes, cigars and pipes is permitted in outdoor public guest spaces and open decks where designated by the ship's management based on the ship's specific characteristics and arrangement. Smoking, including electronic cigarettes, is prohibited in or near venues serving food, the jogging track, outdoor sporting venues, The Haven outdoor areas and children's pool areas. Active Casino players may smoke cigarettes in the Casino during gaming hours. Cigarette smoking is not permitted in any other indoor venue or location.

Guests are not permitted to smoke cigarettes, e-cigarettes, cigars or pipes in their staterooms or on their balconies. Cigar and pipe smoking in staterooms and on balconies is prohibited. Smoking inside your stateroom or on your balcony will result in a $250 USD cleaning charge added to your onboard account. If cigarette burns on furniture, linens, towels or carpeting are detected; guests will be advised and charged for the damages.

Electronic cigarettes cannot be used in public areas where there is a No Smoking policy in force; simply because these cigarettes look so realistic and therefore other guests' perception is that they are not enforcing the No Smoking rule.

Designated smoking areas on the NCL Escape are at the Waves Pool Bar on Deck 6, in the Casino on Deck 7, at the Cigar Lounge on Deck 8, and at The Waterfront, smoking is permitted on the starboard side excluding any food service areas.

Sundancer Tip: The Casino is located on Deck 7, so if you want to avoid the smoke, use Deck 6 or 8.

Is the water on the ship safe to drink?

All of the ships produce water in accordance with the guidelines and requirements as defined by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, U.S. Public Health Service, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the National Center for Environmental Health.

Norovirus Outbreaks

You're actually 35x as likely to get Noro on land than on a cruise ship, largely thanks to the CDC's Vessel Sanitation Program. Germstar Noro is the only product designed specifically to kill Norovirus for the cruise and travel industry. It's the product used by the cruise lines. One of the most common ways the virus spreads from person-to-person is by coming in contact with surfaces that may have the virus, then putting your fingers in your mouth. For example, let's say an infected person grabs a handrail on a cruise ship, leaving traces of the virus on the handrail. You come along and use the same handrail, then you go eat lunch and use your hands to eat a hamburger. The virus has gone from the handrail, to your hands, to your hamburger, to your mouth.

Your hands become the most common form of viral transmission. Therefore, anything you can do to keep your hands clean and free from the virus will go a long way to preventing the virus from getting inside your body. When you think about all of the surfaces on a cruise ship that your hands come in contact with, you begin to see how easily the virus can spread quickly through the population.

For years, cruise lines have implemented measures to prevent the spread of the Norovirus. Reputable cruise lines regularly disinfect surfaces such as handrails, food service areas, etc. If a guest or crew member is diagnosed with a gastrointestinal issue, they are typically quarantined to their stateroom for at least three days to prevent the spread of the virus and kept under medical observation. However, there is only so much a cruise line can do to protect you from becoming infected.

Here are some tips on how to protect yourself:

Wash Your Hands - This is the number one tip to protect yourself. Thoroughly wash your hands with soap and water, especially after using the restroom. And, it does not do any good to wash your hands in public rest room, only to grab the dirty door handle when you leave the restroom. So, use a tissue or napkin to open the door handle.

Hand Sanitizer Stations - Most cruise ships now have hand sanitizer dispensers outside of every dining area. USE THEM. These stations work by placing your hands underneath where a sensor will detect your hands and dispense a dose of the alcohol-like substance. Note: hand sanitizer is not a substitute for washing your hands regularly.

Try not using handrails. If you have on a long-sleeved shirt or sweater, to pull the sleeve down and hold it between your hand and the handrail. Same with doorknobs.

Internet Cafe - How many people have used that computer keyboard and mouse before you? Some cruise lines will even provide sanitizing wipes next to computer terminals. If so, use them. If not, this is another reason to always have a small bottle of hand sanitizer with you at all times.

Does NCL Cruises provide medical assistance? (Deck 13 forward)

NCL Cruises medical centers are staffed by full-time British registered doctors and nurses who are available 24 hours a day in case of an emergency. The facilities are equipped to deal with both minor injuries and most major medical conditions.

All NCL Cruises onboard medical facilities meet or exceed the standards established by the American College of Emergency Physicians. The medical centers proudly hold the distinction of being the only medical services in the cruise industry to have been awarded the Caspe HealthCare Knowledge Systems (CHKS) accreditation and ISO 9001:2008 certification for outstanding quality in healthcare staff facilities and procedures. CHKS is a major UK-based organization that works with public and private health care providers worldwide.

Guests are responsible for covering the cost of medical visits and medicines. All doctors are independent contractors.

What happens in the event of rough seas or bad weather?

The itineraries are planned in order to take clients to the most beautiful and calmest oceans in the world, in the most suitable seasons. The ships are designed and built using the latest technologies: thanks to a sophisticated system of vertical stabilizers, sailing is peaceful even in rough seas. These stabilizers greatly reduce the pitch & roll of the ship. People who have already travelled on a cruise with NCL have been surprised by the spaciousness of the interior and the feeling of stability you experience when sailing. Some passengers may still experience motion sickness or feel "sea-sick". The symptoms are generally mild nausea and dizziness (or vertigo). There are a number of over-the-counter as well as prescription medications and non-pharmaceuticals available to help curb the symptoms of sea-sickness. If you think you may be affected, check with your doctor. If you have motion sickness, we highly recommend purchasing motion sickness armbands or patches. These can be purchased at any drug store (ask your pharmacist). They really work, and allow you to avoid taking any medication.

Note: The screenshots used for this video were taken in late April 2019 using Version 1.6 of the app on an Android phone. The Cruise NCL app may look different on other devices and for more recent app versions.

It is important to download the App before you leave the port on Day 1 of the cruise. Once on board, you will connect to the Ship's Wi-Fi network, but switch your device to airplane mode to avoid roaming charges.

The Cruise NCL mobile app is now available on all the entire NCL fleet! Cruise NCL includes an industry first "Pre-Cruise" mode which allows you to pre-book your onboard activities, dining reservations, shore excursions, entertainment, and view your vacation itinerary and summary, all before you ever step foot on a NCL ship. Once you get onboard, all of your reservations, bookings, and favorites would be seamlessly transferred to the ship, where you can use the communications feature to chat and message with other guests onboard, view your account and onboard purchases, get a daily schedule of what's happening on the ship, and so much more! Cruise Norwegian is now available for download on the App Store and Google Play. Features Include:

What is the Phone & Messengers Package?

To call or text, you must purchase the package.

What is the cost of the Phone and Messenger Package?

The Phone and Messenger package price is $9.95 (US $) per person. The package allows: • Unlimited calls, voicemail and messaging, including group chat, to other guests onboard using the app

- Send and receive photos and audio clips
- Voicemail
- Guest to place calls off the ship for $0.79 (US $) a minute. This is a flat rate to supported countries.

Can I place calls and send message to another guest on the ship?

Once you purchase a Phone and Messenger package, you can make an unlimited number of calls and messages to other guests with the package for one flat rate. In addition you can call staterooms, and to a variety of shipboard guest service extensions. The current rate for off-ship calling is 0.79 cents (U.S. $) per minute. This is a flat rate to supported countries.

Communication

Telephone calls can be made directly using the satellite telephone provided in your cabin. For information about the cost of the satellite service contact the Information/Customer Services Office. Furthermore, thanks to an agreement between NCL Cruises and TIM Italia, GSM-type cover is available on all ships in the fleet, which allows mobile phones to be used on board. The service is available to customers of TIM or operators who have an international roaming agreement with TIM.

What if I need to stay in touch while away?

Staying connected at sea could be very important to some of us. All of the ships have Internet Cafés for those of you that need to be online. You can also telephone, telex, radiogram or fax to anywhere in the world and be billed* at applicable ship-to-shore rates. NCL guests can also be contacted on the ships by calling 1.888.NCSHIPS (1.888.627.4477) from the USA. For the rest of the world please dial 1.732.335.3280. When guests are contacted with the ship via satellite, they can be reached directly, if they are in their stateroom. If not, a message about the incoming call will be delivered to their stateroom and then they can call back* the shore via satellite. NCL guests can also make and receive calls, send and receive text messages and read emails on their own cell phones and mobile devices just as they do on land when the ship is at sea with the Freestyle Cellular Service. Staying in touch with family and friends when cruising has never been so easy.

When calling from the United States: Dial 1.888.NC SHIPS (627.4477), select the ship, and enter your credit card information. When calling from outside the United States: Dial 1.732.335.3280, select the ship, and enter your credit card information. Please use American Express, MasterCard and Discover Card, only.

FEES: Credit Card, ATM & Cell Phones

CASH MACHINES (ATMS)

Throughout Europe, cash machines (ATMs) are the standard way for travelers to get local currency. European ATMs work like your hometown machine and always have English-language instructions. Using your debit card with an ATM takes dollars directly from your bank account at home and gives you that country's cash. You'll pay fees, but you'll still typically get a better rate than you would for exchanging traveler's checks.

Ideally, use your debit card to take money out of ATMs. If you use a credit card (rather than a debit card) for ATM transactions, it's technically a "cash advance" rather than a "withdrawal" — and subject to an additional cash-advance fee, and sometimes a higher interest rate.

Before you go, confirm with your bank or credit card company that your debit or credit card will work in Europe and alert them that you'll be making withdrawals while traveling — otherwise, they might freeze your card if it detects unusual spending patterns. Some banks automatically block US debit card use in certain countries to protect against fraud. There's usually an 800 customer service number on the card. Give the dates and itinerary. Some cards require a PIN code, make sure you know what that is. Also, find out the bank's emergency phone number if you are calling from Europe to US to call collect if you have a problem.

Quiz your bank to figure out exactly what you'll pay for each withdrawal, including international fees, if any.

Ask your bank how much you can withdraw per 24 hours, but be aware that many foreign ATMs have their own limits. If the ATM won't let you withdraw your daily maximum, you'll have to make several smaller withdrawals (and incur extra fees) to get the amount you want.

Stay away from commercial ATMs that aren't run by banks. These companies, such as Travelex Money Machine, like to stack their machines next to bank ATMs in the hope that travelers will be too confused to notice the difference. The commercial ATMs charge outrageous extra fees — often double the cost of a bank ATM.

CREDIT CARDS:

Consider taking out a card just for international purchases. Capital One has a particularly good reputation for no-fee international transactions. Most credit unions have low-to-no international transaction fees. Bankrate has a good comparison chart of major credit cards and their currency-conversion fees. http://www.bankrate.com/credit-cards/airline-miles-cards.aspx?ic_id=home_smart-spending_credit-cards_globalnav

Bringing two different cards provides a backup if one is demagnetized or eaten by a machine or compromised or lost. Make sure the validity period of your card won't expire before your trip ends. For couples, it is a good idea to bring different credit cards with different account numbers, in case one is lost or cancelled.

Avoid dynamic currency conversion (DCC). Some European merchants — capitalizing on the fact that many Americans are intimidated by unusual currencies — cheerfully charge you for converting their prices to dollars. This may seem like a nice service, but you'll actually end up paying more by adding yet another middle-man to your transaction. Usually the dollar price is based on a lousy exchange rate (which can be set wherever the merchant likes — generally about 3 percent worse than the prevailing inter-bank rate). To make matters worse, even though you're paying in "dollars," your credit-card company may still levy its 1–3 percent "foreign transaction fee." The result: You could pay up to a 6 percent premium for the "convenience" of immediately seeing your charges in dollars.

Some merchants may disagree, but according to DCC provider Planet Payment, you have the right to decline this service at the store and have your transaction go through using local currency. If you're handed a receipt with two totals — one in the local currency and the other in US dollars — circle the amount listed in the local currency before you sign. If your receipt shows the total in dollars only, ask that it to be rung up again in the local currency. Your transaction will then be converted by Visa or MasterCard at or near the more favorable interbank rate. When using a credit card, use a card with the lowest possible international fees, and make sure your transactions are charged in the local currency — not US dollars. Then smile and enjoy your trip, feeling very clever for avoiding so much unnecessary expense.

The bottom line. Here's the best formula for saving money as you travel: Pay for as much as possible with cash (use a bank that charges low rates for international ATM transactions, and withdraw large amounts at each transaction — keeping the cash safe in your money belt). Exchange rates at hotels and airports are typically worse than those in banks, but more convenient. If exchanging in Europe watch out for hidden fees. Some exchanges claim Zero Commission or Fee

Free, but they'll be sure to find a profit somewhere else. In Europe, make sure the currency you're carrying for exchange is in good condition. You might be refused if you try to change up damaged, marked or torn currency.

American credit cards work throughout Europe (at hotels, larger shops and restaurants, travel agencies, and so on), although some countries are switching to new technology that may cause your US card to be rejected in certain automated machines. Also, more and more merchants are establishing a $30 minimum for credit-card purchases. Visa and MasterCard are the most widely accepted. American Express is less common (because it costs merchants more) but is popular with some travelers for its extra services. The Discover card is scarcely known in Europe.

"Smart cards," also known as "chip and PIN cards," are increasingly commonplace in Europe. Such cards incorporate microchips that can be programmed with user information and security data. Normally, you'll need to enter a four-digit Personal Identification Number, or PIN, when you make a purchase. This makes it tougher for thieves to use stolen cards or card numbers.

Also, it's wise to make photocopies of your cards (including the customer-service phone numbers on the back) so you can report any theft or loss of your card immediately. Keep the paper copies separate from your cards.

Finally, and most important: Guard your cards! Don't carry credit cards in a backpack, a carry-on bag, or a suitcase, and don't keep your wallet in a hip pocket or a belt pouch. Pickpockets and purse snatchers know that tourists are often careless, so they'll be watching you.

Tip: AAA offers foreign currency exchange with no fee. After the trip, they will also exchange bills back to US currency. It would be smart to find out if the rates are better in the U.S. and if so exchange before you leave town.

CELL PHONES

Check with your provider about using your cell phone on the cruise ship and in your ports of call.

Here is some information about using your phone in Europe. Imagine the efficiency of getting driving instructions from your hotel as you approach; or letting your friend know that your train is late but you're on your way; or being reachable day or night by loved ones back home (or a lost travel partner). A mobile phone can come in handy.

You have three mobile-phone options: Take your American phone (if it works in Europe), buy a phone in Europe, or rent a phone.

No matter what kind of phone you use, as you cross each border, you'll usually receive a text message welcoming you to the new country's network and explaining how to use their services. Be aware that having people call you on your European mobile phone number typically costs them much more than calling a fixed line (the rates can be as much as double). It might be cheaper for them to phone you at your hotel, rather than calling your mobile.

Using Your Own Mobile Phone

First, figure out whether your phone works in Europe. Many T-Mobile and AT&T phones work fine abroad, while only specialized phones from Verizon or Sprint do — check your operating manual (look for "tri-band" or "quad-band"). If your Verizon phone doesn't work in Europe, they'll typically loan you one that does for a one-time shipping fee.

Your mobile-phone service provider likely has an international plan, which allows you to roam throughout Europe using your own phone number.

Before you leave, call your mobile-phone service provider to ask whether your phone will work in Europe, what the rates are, whether there are any other fees (such as for data roaming), and whether you need to activate international calling on your plan. (This is usually free, though some companies also have the option of paying a monthly fee to lower the per-minute charges — but remember to deactivate this service when you return.) Mobile-phone companies have received furious complaints from customers who've rung up huge bills because they didn't realize they were incurring roaming charges, so they can be a little over-the-top in making sure you understand all the potential costs. But it's better to be informed.

A few caveats: You'll be charged for incoming calls, even if you don't answer them (and, in some cases, even if your phone is turned off) — so tell your friends and co-workers not to call except in emergencies. And smartphones (such as the iPhone, Android, or BlackBerry) can incur hefty fees for data roaming.

If the rates are high or you plan on making a lot of calls, ask your mobile-phone provider for the code to "unlock" your phone. Once your phone is unlocked, you can buy and change SIM cards as you travel. Rather than using your American number, you'll have a European number...and pay cheaper European rates.

You may want to disable apps you are not using. You may want to add apps like translators, maps and transit schedules that you may use.

Using a European Phone

It can be surprisingly affordable to buy a basic "pay as you go" mobile phone in Europe. Shop around at the ubiquitous corner phone marts or at mobile-phone counters in big department stores. No contracts are necessary — most phones come loaded with prepaid calling time — and additional minutes are usually easy to buy.

Your basic choice is between a phone that's "locked" to work with a single provider (starting around $20 for the most basic models), or a more versatile "unlocked" phone that allows you to switch out SIM cards to access multiple networks (starting around $60). To save even more, look for special promotions or shops that sell used phones. (You can also buy European phones online from the US, but it's generally cheaper and easier to get one in Europe.)

Renting a Mobile Phone: These days, car-rental companies, mobile-phone companies, and even some hotels offer the option to rent a mobile phone with a European number. While this seems convenient, hidden fees (such as high per-minute charges or expensive shipping costs) can really add up — which usually makes it a bad value. One exception is Verizon's Global Travel Program (available only to Verizon customers). If your Verizon phone won't work in Europe, you can pay a one-time $20 shipping fee to borrow a Europe-compatible phone that can make calls at the regular international rates (generally $1.50 to $2 per minute). The phone uses your regular phone number and can even carry over your contacts. As long as you send it back within 30 days, there are no additional rental fees or charges.

Buying SIM Cards

If you have an unlocked phone — whether brought from the US or purchased in Europe — you can buy a SIM card to make it work in Europe. Remember that a SIM card is a small, fingernail-size chip that stores your phone number and other information. If your phone is unlocked, getting your own European phone number is surprisingly easy and cheap.

Each country has various service providers, all of whom sell their own SIM cards. Since these companies are very competitive, they're pretty much the same — just look for the best rates. SIM cards, which generally cost around $5–15, come with a European phone number and starter credit. These days, mobile-phone companies are working hard to attract customers; I've bought a few SIM cards that came with more calling credit than the cost of the card (for example, a €5 card that includes €7 of credit) — making the SIM card effectively free.

While you can buy European SIM cards online from the US, they're usually overpriced. Just buy one when you arrive in Europe. In some places, getting a SIM card is as simple as buying a pack of gum. For instance, in Greece, I walked up to a newsstand and bought a SIM card for about $5; in the Brussels train station, I bought one from a vending machine. But other countries are regulating SIM cards more carefully, so you might have to fill out some paperwork and show your passport before buying the card.

Though you can buy SIM cards at newsstands in many countries, don't expect much help from the newsstand vendor. For first-timers, it's often worth the extra time to go to a mobile phone shop, where an English-speaking clerk can help you explore your options, get your SIM card inserted and set up, and show you how to use it. (The mobile phone desk in a big department store is another good place to check.) Note that some mobile phone shops sell SIM cards for only one provider, while others offer a wide range. Unless you're certain you want a particular company, look for a place that gives you several options, then ask the clerk which one is best for the types of calls you're going to make. (Mostly domestic or international calls? Are you using it only in that country, or planning to "roam" with it across a border?) Also ask for a list of calling rates: for making phone calls and sending text messages — both domestic and international — and for roaming (if you'll be leaving the country).

When you first insert a new SIM card, you might be prompted to enter the "SIM PIN" (a code number that came with your SIM card). In some cases, you'll be asked for this every time you turn on the phone — which can be a hassle. Fortunately, this feature can usually be disabled; look through your phone's menu and security features, or ask the shop clerk for help.

Text messages and other instructions from the service provider are generally in another language. It's often possible to switch this to English — again, get help from the shop clerk.

Be sure you know how to check your remaining credit balance. This is different for each phone company, but generally, you'll enter a three-digit number, then #, then hit "send." The remaining amount should pop up on your screen. You can buy additional prepaid credit as you go: Buy a printed voucher from your European provider at a mobile-phone shop or newsstand, then punch in the numbers from the voucher to add the time to your phone.

Before leaving the shop, go through the entire process, from turning on the phone, to checking your credit balance, to actually making a call — to the store, or, for fun, to the shop clerk's personal phone.

Rates: If you're calling from the SIM card's home country, you'll generally pay around 10 to 20 cents per minute for domestic calls to fixed lines, and nothing to receive calls. (Calls to mobile phones tend to be more expensive.) Calling the US can cost $1 per minute or more — but using an international phone card with your mobile phone can bring that cost down to pennies.

A SIM card works most affordably in the country where you buy it. If you roam with the SIM card in another country, call prices go up, and you pay to receive incoming calls. If your SIM card is from a European Union (EU) country, fees are regulated when roaming within the EU: You'll pay no more than about 55 cents per minute to make calls or 21 cents per minute to receive calls. If your SIM card is from a non-EU country — or if you're traveling in one — roaming fees can be much higher. If you'll be making a lot of calls, it can be cheaper to buy a new SIM card for that country.

Tips: Be aware that most European SIM cards expire after a certain period of inactivity (typically 3–12 months) — including any credit you have left on the card. So saving your Italian SIM card for next year's trip isn't a sure thing.

Remember to store your phone numbers in the phone itself, rather than on the SIM card — or you'll lose access to them when you switch SIMs. When storing phone numbers, include the plus (+) sign and the country code so your calls will go through, regardless of where you're calling from.

The Bottom Line on Mobile Phones

If your American mobile phone will work in Europe...take it and use it if you have a reasonable calling plan. If you will be making lots of calls, first get it "unlocked" so you can switch out the SIM card in Europe (and get better rates). If you have a smartphone, disable data roaming or invest in an international data plan.

If your American phone won't work in Europe... buy a new phone when you reach your destination. If you're planning to visit multiple countries, make sure it's an "unlocked" phone so you can change SIM cards as you cross borders. The only rental program I'd entertain is Verizon's, which is a decent deal for its customers.

Can you surf the net on board?

All the ships are equipped with 24 hour Internet Cafés. Wireless internet (also known as Wi-Fi) is also available throughout NCL's entire fleet. If you are not using this, it is recommended that you make sure your cell phone is in "Airplane Mode" or that the cellular data is turned off before you set sail to avoid roaming charges.

Questions and Answers

Q: Is there internet onboard the ship?

A: Yes, we have Internet Cafés on all of the ships, which feature terminals where you have the ability to surf the Web, chat online, and access your private e-mail account (Gmail, AOL, Hotmail, Juno, Yahoo, etc.). For your convenience, the Internet Café Manager is available for assistance during posted hours. Internet Café terminals run on Windows XP and are limited to Internet communication. The terminals are not equipped with Microsoft Office (WORD, EXCEL, etc.), however, most files can be accessed as "read only" for viewing purposes but cannot be edited or saved. Please note, on your personal laptop you can read, edit and save files without restrictions according to the programs installed as you normally would.

Q: Can I access my own email provider onboard?

A: Yes. Web based email providers are accessed as normal from the onboard system. If you wish to use an email system linked via an external email application, this can be accomplished by using IP 172.31.0.2

Q: How much does it cost to use the internet onboard?

A: For pricing information, please visit the Internet Package pricing page. <https://www.ncl.com/onboard-packages/internet-packages>. Once onboard, instructions on how to create an account and pricing details are present on-screen in the Internet Café or on your laptop during the log-in process. Internet pricing is the same, whether you are using the Internet Café terminals, your own laptop or other wireless devices. All internet access charges will be billed directly to your onboard account.

Time Plans – offer guests the opportunity to enjoy a lower per-minute rate. These Time Plans are transferable between Internet Café terminals and personal laptops/ wireless devices, can be used anytime throughout the cruise until debarkation and don't have to be used in a single session. Please be advised that no refunds will be awarded for unused minutes and upgrading of pricing option once chosen is not available. Plans are subject to change.

Q: Can I check in for my post cruise flight and also print my boarding passes prior to leaving the ship?

A: Yes, you can check in online and print your boarding passes in the Internet Café. Please note that regular printing and online time charges apply.

Q: Can I use my laptop onboard?

A: Yes, You may use your personal laptop while onboard, your iPhone and all other Wi-Fi equipped devices and most software installed on them without restrictions. Wireless internet (also known as Wi-Fi) is available throughout NCL's entire fleet. Please see the Internet Café Manager onboard for the available wireless areas specifically for the ship on which you are sailing. Once you are in range of the Wireless signal onboard, simply open your Internet browser and you will be directed to the Login Page. Once you are logged in, a separate browser window will open. This is your Logout window. Keep this window open until you are ready to logout. In order to end the Internet session and stop billing, you must simply type "logout.com" in the browser's address bar and press "enter" or "return". If you are planning to utilize VPN access while onboard, be sure to discuss your VPN limitations with your company's IT department if you are planning to work while sailing. NCL is not able to change your settings onboard.

Q: Can I use my iPad, iTouch, iPhone onboard?

A: Yes. Please see individual information below:

For IOS (The iPad, iTouch and iPhone operating system), the login procedure is as follows: click on settings – Wi-Fi, then select the ship's wireless network, then wait 10 seconds before opening the browser.

eBooks without an Internet browser and those that don't have Java installed are not supported.

Guests need to enable Java Script on all devices (including laptops) before they can be logged on to the Internet onboard.

Q: Is the speed of my connection the same as on land?

A: No, The data for onboard connection is transmitted via a slower wireless signal to satellites orbiting the earth approximately 22,000 miles from the earth's surface and then bounce back down to the land-based exchange. At home, your data is sent through a fast cable connection to your local exchange, just around the corner from your house. Therefore internet access onboard is significantly slower than high-speed connections normally experienced on land.

Q: Can I access Skype or view streaming video onboard?

A: No, these services are limited due to bandwidth consumption issues.

Q: What do I need to prepare before the cruise / bring with me to use the internet onboard?

A: 1. Convert your E-mail settings to basic; you will have a better experience if your E-mail is less graphic intense.

2. Discuss VPN limitations with your company's IT department if you are planning to work while sailing. NCL is not able to change your settings onboard.

3. Remember to bring:

Wi-Fi enabled laptop and mobile devices

Power supply for each of the devices you are bringing with you

A charged battery for your trip to the ship

Data cables to transfer pictures

Headphones

4. And remember, we have an Internet Café Manager onboard to assist you during posted hours with any questions / concerns you may have during your cruise with us.

*Wireless internet (also known as Wi-Fi) is available throughout NCL's entire fleet. To use the wireless Internet Service all you need is your laptop to get connected in the Internet Café or you can use it around the ship in the wireless coverage areas. Please see the Internet Café Manager onboard for the selected areas.

Once you are in range of the Wireless signal onboard, simply open your Internet browser and you will be directed to the Login Page. * Once you are logged in, a separate browser window will open. This is your Logout window. Keep this window open until you are ready to logout!

Windows XP, Vista, 7 or 8 users -- If prompted by Windows to select a wireless network, select the "mtndsi" or "NCL_Internet_Access" network depending on the ship you are on. The SSID should be set to "mtndsi" or "NCL_Internet_Access" if it is not automatically detected.

Mac users - you will need to turn the "airport" on and connect to the "mtndsi" or "NCL_Internet_Access" wireless network depending on which ship you are on.

What is the Fuel Supplement?

NCL reserves the right to charge a fuel supplement without prior notice should the closing price of West Texas Intermediate Fuel increase above $65.00 USD per barrel on the NYMEX (New York Mercantile Exchange Index). In the event a fuel supplement is charged, NCL will have sole discretion to apply the supplementary charge to both existing and new bookings, regardless of whether such bookings have been paid in full. Such supplementary charges are not included in the cruise fare. The fuel supplement charge will not exceed $10.00 USD per passenger per day.

What can't I bring onboard?

Passengers should NOT bring the following items onboard any NCL ship:

Drones (Game Flying Device)

Guests are not permitted to bring drones onboard for safety of other guests, as well as the welfare of the vessel.

In light of recent safety issues with the Samsung Galaxy Note7, we are asking the guests who own this model to please avoid traveling with this mobile device. The Federal Aviation Administration has banned the Samsung Galaxy Note7 from all air travel, and until further notice, this device will be restricted from all NCL ships. Fire is one of the greatest threats at sea and due to the safety concerns these devices present, if one is found in a guest's possession or unattended in a stateroom onboard, the policy instructs the crew to confiscate the device for safekeeping. The device will remain in the possession, in a safe, monitored location, for the duration of the cruise. Guests can reclaim their device at the conclusion of the cruise from the reception desk.

Iron everything you will need for the cruise and you will be all set. They can be requested through housekeeping or Guest Services Desk. Irons and steamers would both be taken from guests at embarkation and returned at the end of the sailing.

Animals of any kind, except service or guide animals, provided the passenger notifies Carrier prior to the cruise of his intention to bring such animal and agrees to take sole responsibility for any expense, damage, injuries or losses associated with or caused by such animal.

Large Batteries, Emergency Position Indicating Radio Beacons (EPIRB), ham radios, satellite phones, transformers, lasers and laser pointers are not allowed onboard.

What are the customs allowances?

United States residents must declare all articles acquired abroad and in their possession when they return to the U.S. This includes items purchased in "duty-free" shops. The duty-free exemption allowed for purchases or gifts for returning U.S. residents varies, depending on how long they have been out of the U.S. and which countries they have visited. The standard exemption for U.S. residents who have been abroad more than 48 hours is $600 - $800 USD, which may include one liter of alcohol (if you are at least 21), 100 cigars and 200 cigarettes. Residents returning to the U.S. from the U.S. Virgin Islands may bring $1,200 USD worth of goods duty-free. The duty-free exemption for U.S. residents doesn't need to include items that are mailed back to the U.S.; those will be assessed for duty when they arrive. The duty-free exemption for a package mailed as a gift is $100 USD; the exemption for a package marked for personal use is $200 USD. Non-U.S. citizens should check with their local authorities for customs allowance information. For more specific customs information, be sure to attend the briefing by the Cruise Director before your ship reaches home port. (Check the NCL Freestyle Daily Planner for time and place.) You can also obtain information before you sail by contacting the nearest U.S. Customs office (look under United States Government, Department of Treasury in your local phone book). You can also visit the U.S. Customs website - www.cbp.gov - or call 1.202.927.6724 and ask for the brochure "Know Before You Go." Note: Bottles of liquor you purchase on board or ashore will be held in a secure area and delivered to your stateroom at the conclusion of the cruise. U.S. Citizens and residents are not allowed to bring more than 200 cigarettes into the U.S. if they are produced in the U.S., whether made for export or not.

Disembarkation

Passengers are disembarked in order of earliest flight times off the ship first. The Information Desk arranges/plans the disembarkation process during the actual voyage, for the end of that voyage. It can take up to three hours to disembark the ship. This is approximate, depending on customs, security, etc. It is sometimes possible to leave the ship earlier for early flights, or have delayed disembarkation for late flights. For early or delayed disembarkation, please see the Information Desk on board.

Since all suitcases are collected the night before we return home, don't forget to pack an overnight bag with a change of clothes, shoes, prescriptions, valuables, and need-to-have items. You will receive new numbered luggage tags on board to attach to your luggage for debarkation.

This ship arrives back into Port at 7:00 a.m., but we won't begin disembarkation until later that morning. The ship must be cleared by customs before anyone can disembark. Please make sure you follow the instructions given by the NCL crew carefully, or this may prevent leaving in a timely manner. Once you leave the ship you will locate your luggage (make sure your name is on it as many look alike). You will need to fill out a Customs Declaration Form (which will be provided to you) while on board and present it to the Customs Inspector. If you have transportation vouchers the buses will be at the Pier. You should first retrieve all of your luggage before proceeding to the buses or other transportation.

Claims for luggage loss or damage must be made in writing to the debarkation personnel prior to leaving the pier area.

SECURITY TIPS

As you are probably aware, most airlines are charging for checked bags per person. Some airlines offer a small discount of the checked bag cost if you prepay this on line within 24 hours before your flight. This may cause the overhead compartments on the planes to get full, and could possibly force you to check a carry-on bag if there is not room on the plane.

Check in as soon as your airline allows this (usually 24 hours before departure). Many airlines will let you check in on line and print your boarding passes. Or check in by phone. Rumor is that if you don't check in early you may lose your seat.

Also, don't check your bags too early either (more than 120 minutes prior to flight time) as the airport may not yet be set up to service your flight and your bag may end up in limbo.

Passengers with a disability or medical condition may call ahead to the TSA Cares toll free helpline at (855) 787-2227.

WALL STREET JOURNAL ARTICLE

Re airlines. Basically, it said that many carriers can make customers pay up when they show up late. Missing a flight can cost hundreds of dollars. It pays to know your airline's policies because many will give you a break if you know how to ask. Most airlines let you go standby on a later flight, but if that means traveling the next day, some airlines will hit you with change fees and even higher fares -- especially if you admit that your tardiness is the result of something in your control (such as oversleeping, for example), as opposed to a traffic jam or a tunnel closure. And if you switch to another airline, your reservation for your return flight may get canceled automatically. If you miss your flight and you change carrier's - there's a catch. If you do hop on another carrier, you have to let your original airline know that you'll still want to use your return ticket, and you may have to fight to keep it.

ANOTHER INTERESTING ARTICLE RE IDENTITY THEFT

Be careful where you discard your boarding pass stub. Apparently, this little stub is coded with your personal information, such as your frequent flyer number, your passport number, your date of birth and nationality, and sometimes more!

SAFETY

Be Careful What You Leave In Your Car...We have a safety tip for you. Don't leave materials that contain your address (such as auto registration) and your garage door opener in your car at the airport. If someone breaks into your car and you have left your address and garage door opener, it would be very easy for someone to make himself or herself welcome in your home while you are out of town.

Depending on where you are traveling, tourists who stand out as "rich Americans" are often targeted by pickpockets, even in safe ports. Don't carry your money in your hip pocket wallet or easily grabbed purses. Take only as much money as you will need for the day and tuck an extra $20 in your shoe for emergencies. You can also wear an under-the-clothes money-belt if you need to bring extra money/passport, etc. Best to leave valuable, excess cash and unneeded credit cards in your safe in your stateroom while in ports. Be aware, be prepared, then enjoy yourself and absorb new experiences.

OTHER TIPS

Customers with checked baggage should check with the airport you are departing from for their guidelines. Most airports recommend you arrive 1-1/2 hours before flight departure for domestic flights. In most instances, the baggage check-in cut-off time remains at 30 minutes before departure. Travelers are expected to be at the gate in time for loading at least 30 minutes before departure. Many aircraft doors will be closed 10 minutes prior to departure. Following these tips will help you reduce your wait time at the security checkpoint.

Familiarize yourself with individual airport and airline policies regarding security procedures as local rules and regulations may vary from destination to destination. To access airtime information for all U.S. airports, queries are available via the TSA website at <https://www.dhs.gov/how-do-i/check-wait-times>

Additionally, visit individual airport websites for more information. For a list of all the guidelines, such as 3-1-1- for Carry-On's, prohibited items, etc., see this website: <https://www.tsa.gov/travel>

Leave gifts unwrapped. They may be opened for inspection.

Avoid wearing clothing, jewelry, and accessories, belt buckles, and under-wire bras, that contain metal. Metal items may set off the alarm on the metal detector. It is recommended that you remove your shoes, belt and any type of coat, and place it in a bin. Choose comfortable shoes that are easy to remove. Place the following items IN your carry-on baggage prior to entering the screening checkpoint: Mobile phones (otherwise, label your laptop and cell phone with owner contact information), keys, loose change, money clips, PDA's, pagers, large amounts of jewelry, metal hair decorations, large belt buckles. Take your laptop and video cameras with cassettes OUT of their cases and place them in a bin provided. Take OFF your outer coats, suite coats, jackets, or blazers.

Pack Smart: Per the TSA's security requirement, the following items are not allowed: knives of any kind made from any material on its flights. In addition, cutting instruments of every kind are banned in the stateroom. Do not bring lighters, matches, knives, scissors with pointed tips, or other sharp objects in your carry on. Items such as baseball/softball bats, golf clubs, pool cues, ski poles and hockey sticks are prohibited in the stateroom. In addition, irons, heating pads and candles are prohibited in your stateroom. Marijuana is illegal to bring on board any ship. Permitted items: include walking canes, umbrellas (once inspected), nail clippers, safety razors (including disposable razors) syringes, tweezers, knitting needles and eyelash curlers. You are permitted by NCL to bring a radio, CD or cassette player, but the ship requests that headphones or ear pieces be used in public areas. Do not over-pack bags. If screeners have to open them, closing over-stuffed bags can be difficult and result in delays. It is suggested that you not pack in your checked luggage the following: Camera, Camcorder, jewelry, money, important documents, breakable items, or other valuables. Also, check airline policies for information on maximum weight limitations, size limitations, and number of bags permitted for check-in and carry-on.

Put all undeveloped film and cameras with film in your carry-on baggage. Checked baggage screening equipment will damage undeveloped film.

Carry-on baggage is usually limited to one carry-on bag plus one personal item with most airlines. Personal items include laptops, purses, small backpacks, briefcases, or camera cases. Again, check with your airline to verify this information.

Place identification tags in and on all of your baggage, including your stateroom number.

Keep your claim checks for checked luggage as many airports have increased inspection at the carousels.

Double check seat back pockets and around your seat before departing your aircraft.

TSA Recognized Baggage Locks

We all sometimes need a little extra sense of security, but before you lock your bag, make sure it's a TSA accepted lock. Every bag is screened before it's placed on any airplane. While technology allows TSA to electronically screen bags, there are times when they need to physically inspect a piece of luggage. If a bag is locked, they are allowed to cut the lock off. That's where recognized locks come in. They worked in partnership with several companies to develop locks which offer you security without interrupting the security offered. These locks are normally available at airports and travel stores nationwide. Before you buy a lock for your bag, make sure to use a TSA accepted one. Look for these symbols to make sure you have the right lock.

Tip: Avoid use of padlocks as they can get caught in conveyor belts and ripped off.
